WE NOMINATE

Lewis Hastings Sarett, brilliant 40-year old chemist and long-time commuter between Princeton and the Merck, Sharp and Dohme Research Laboratories in Rahway, N. J., who once again has played a dominant role in the development of a new drug—this one 30 times more potent than cortisone and other medicinals used in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. Discovery of a new synthetic hormone, with the Merck trademark of 'Decadron', is reported in the current issue of The Journal of the American Chemical Society by a squad of chemical and biological scientists headed by Sarett, now director of synthetic organic chemistry in the MSD laboratories.

While the activity of 'Decadron' in human patients was described for the first time at a recent meeting of the American Rheumatism Association, thousands of additional clinical studies will be required before it can be made available for the treatment of patients. However, if clinical tests continue to affirm the value of 'Decadron', physicians may expect to have eventually a steroid so powerful that an ordinary sewing thimble would hold enough of the pure crystalline material to treat the average rheumatoid patient for three years.

The discovery of 'Decadron', which is chemically related to cortisone, grew out of a research program initiated in the 1940's. It was in 1944 that Sarett, two years after he had received his Princeton doctoral degree and frequently working in consultation with University chemists, succeeded in synthesizing cortisone and thereby broke open the whole field of hormones against arthritis. Cortisone of course did not solve the mystery of joint-freezing arthritis but, as it was gradually put to use in some 40 diseases, it did help inaugurate a striking new concept of the nature and treatment of disease.

'Decadron' was produced by painstakingly manipulating the elements of compounds over a ten-year period. These chemical gymnastics were performed by teams of scientists and technicians—not by individuals in laboratory cubicles. In addition to the inventors (Sarett, Glen E. Arth and David Johnson), three other scientists made basic contributions. The development corps for the project, even before production in miniscule quantities, included two M.D.'s, 20 technical assistants, 21 organic chemists, 5 physical chemists, 5 laboratory technicians, 2 chemical engineers, 6 pilot plant engineers, 6 pharmacists, 2 foremen and 21 chemical operators.

Sarett, one of the youngest men ever to earn the Baekeland Award of the American Chemical Society for achievement in research, is a native of Highland Park, Ill., the son of the noted poet, Lew Sarett. He became a "chemistry addict" in high school, carried off Phi Beta Kappa honors at Northwestern University and enrolled in Princeton's Graduate School in 1942. He joined Merck in 1942, only months after this country had decided that research on adrenal hormones was worthy of a place in the war effort.

For sharing in a discovery that could well be the prelude for an era of unusually great medical progress; for providing the kind of scientific leadership the U.S. must have if it is to move forward from strength to greater strength; he is for the second time in seven years TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

WEATHER MAKES NEWS

Rain—Not Heat and Humidity. "Dog days" had come back to Princeton—days when Sirius (the "dog star") rises and sets with the sun, celestial timing that is accompanied by the hottest part of the summer. As both temperature and humidity steamed upward toward 90—with the latter generally winning the unpopular race—they invariably became the topic of most conversation-openers.

Neither, however, was the source of the week's blizzard news, weather-wise. Sirius lost out to Jupiter Pluvius, who ascended to the throne on Sunday for 24 hours of the wettest weather this community has known in some time.

For example, during a 60-minute interval about twilight that evening, 1.6 inches of rain fell. This is more than the Princeton area experienced during an entire month when last year's drought was at its worst.

Sunday's 24 hour total was 3.10 inches, and that, coupled with .37 inches the preceding day, gave the area more than is normal for all of July. In sum, as the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association points out, it was the heaviest rainfall recorded in the shortest time since Hurricane Diane raised such havoc in August of 1955.

Actually, no property damage of major proportions was recorded and no injuries were listed in this area as a result of the cloudburst. Sharp lightning and solid thunder claps provided the traditional stage effects, but the only building struck in Princeton was 417-B Butler Avenue home of S. O. Morris, Jr. The TV antenna and a portion of the roof were casualties, but one fire engine controlled the small blaze.

Late returnees from the three-day 4 weekend were further delayed by sirens whose alarm drains could not begin to cope with the flash floods, while a full-

Park Here for Sick Call

Starting Monday, visitors to Princeton Hospital and the Medical Arts Building will have the big front parking lot all to themselves—except for doctors, of course.

The Hospital's new 212-car parking lot on Franklin Avenue has been finished and it will be used by Hospital and Medical Arts Building personnel for all-day parking. (The lot occupies land once owned by Gerard B. Lambert.) Visitors may use it, too, but personnel will not be allowed to park permanently in the parking area in front of the hospital.

Just to make sure that unauthorized cars don't park in the Hospital's lots, Borough police will patrol them. In the words of the Hospital, the front lot is now reserved for "patients, patients' attendants, visitors and doctors." Anyone who lives in Lambert House full time may park there because it's considered a residence.

The Hospital's back parking lot is being reassured so that convalescent patients going home and accident victims coming in will have a smoother ride going either way.

fledged traffic jam occurred on U. S. 1 near the Ponns Neck Circle. A couple of tons of dirt and cinders avalanched down from the embankment on the Pennsylvania Railroad overpass, quickly creating a 20-foot-high obstacle that all southbound traffic on the superhighway found impassable.

State Police quickly sent four troopers to the scene, with southbound traffic detoured through Princeton for several hours. Single-lane traffic was then established on the northbound side, but it was a good six hours before a highway crew could open one southbound lane, and down here the normal flow was restored.

In Princeton Township, Quaker Road was flooded by Stony Brook in the Squatters Grove area, an incident that occurs for more frequently than elsewhere. In Lawrence Township, Lawrenceville's Main Street had many a car sidelined by high water which the drains could not handle, while at near-by Nassau Estates, large quantities of mud were washed from the fields onto the roads. In many a neighborhood, temporary power failures occurred but in every instance they were quickly rectified.

SWIMMING POOL PLANNED

A Seminary "Family" Affair. As the seasonal hot, muggy weather caught up with Princeton this week, Princeton Theological Seminary finalized plans for the construction of a large outdoor swimming pool. The pool has been primarily designed for the use of Seminary faculty and their families, but it will be available to students and all Seminary employees as well.

The Seminary obtained a building permit last week and with the current heat wave little time has been lost in putting these plans into action. Digging by the Glenn Mitchell Construction Company of Trenton began promptly on Tuesday.

The pool, to measure 30 by 60 feet, will be located on the site of Seminary tennis courts on College Road. The contract with the Mitchell construction firm calls—Continued on Page 2

These Questions:

Some people think the best reason for having a Checking Account is the way the check stubs keep a record of every cent paid out. They know, too, that paying by check saves time and steps, and that the record on the check stubs discourages over-spending.

Initiative for the construction of the pool came from Seminary faculty members. It was decided, however, to make the facilities available to all associated with the theological institution from residents to grounds staff. The pool, which will be 8 1/2 feet deep at the diving end and 2 feet, 4 inches at the shallow end, will also be welcomed by delegates to the Seminary's annual Institutes of Theology. Summer students at the Seminary will have the greatest use of the pool, but regular students will find it agreeable in spring and autumn.

PERSONALITIES

Mrs. Helen Benson, Coventry Farm, who this week saw the climax of a 32-year battle to rid New Jersey of brucellosis (undulating fever), to which cows are highly susceptible and which can be transmitted to man. In 1929, the late R. Laurence Benson, her husband, helped this State launch a volunteer campaign to stamp out the disease on dairy farms, was honored when theirs was the first to be declared free of the trace. This week, the U.S. Department of Agriculture cited New Jersey as the 13th State in the Union to achieve that distinction.

BOROUGH COUNCIL ACTION

More Parking? Princeton's byzantine-headed and ever-growing problem—parking and traffic—held the center of the stage at Tuesday evening's session of Mayor and Council, as Borough officials and Nassau Street businessmen freely discussed the possibility of developing metered, off-the-street parking lots in the eastern business section.

Reporting for the Committee on the Future of Princeton, Councilman Coyle noted that an informal assembly of the majority of the businessmen located between Vandeventer and Moore Streets had reflected deep interest in reconsidering plans for developing the interior of the Vandeventer-Park Place-Moore block for parking.

From the Methodist Church, on the threshold of its long-planned building program, has come voluntary dedication of an 18-foot right-of-way which would provide Vandeventer Street access into the western half of the block.

The next step, Mr. Coyle stressed, will be a similar informal gathering in Borough Hall of all other interested property-owners, notably Park Place residents, who in the past have expressed strong opposition to interior-block parking. This meeting has been tentatively scheduled for next Tuesday evening at 8 in Borough Hall.

Give-and-Take. Moving easterly along Nassau Street into the Chestnut-Fine-Maple area, the "Borough Fathers" and business spokesmen compared thoughts on parking possibilities, with the latter emphasizing the "crying need" for a positive program that would provide public parking facilities equivalent to those located in other sections of the business district.

The business representation, headed by Jack Turner, Jr., Princeton Business Association spokesman and Republican nominee for Council, urged the immediate acquisition and development of the now available Skirm property at 253 Nassau Street, consisting of some 22,500 square feet with 75-foot frontage on Nassau Street, the "asking price" for which reportedly runs as high as $75,000.

PAST AND PRESENT: Henry B. Ross (left), who retired as headmaster of Princeton Country Day School after 29 years on its faculty, posed for Town Topics' photographer one warm morning as he and his successor, Peter F. Rethermel, took a moment's relaxation from the problems of turning over the chain of command.

Alternatives Listed. Three possible ways of pressing the property into the "area's service" were touched upon during the evening, with the understanding that it would be necessary for the Borough to purchase a right-of-way into Olden Street and to eliminate metered parking on the south side of Nassau between Olden and Murray Place:

1. Purchase by the Borough and conversion into a 60-70 car lot. This would mean razing the Skirm residence and would represent an investment well in excess of $100,000.

2. Purchase by an individual business that would use the building for office purposes and would, through tax-remission arrangements, makes 26-27 places available for metered public parking.

3. A cooperative proposition, with businesses in the area sharing capital outlay and long-haul operational expenses with the Borough.

Parking Sideline. Added evidence of the critical parking shortage along the eastern reaches of Nassau Street was provided by the request of the Princeton Holding Company, 240 Nassau Street, owned by Mrs.

Chaire Levine, to purchase a "one-only" right-of-way in the driveway serving the Chestnut Street Firehouse.

Such a right-of-way, extending some 90-100 feet, would give automobile access to the rear of the 240 Nassau Street premises, "now landlocked and unavailable for parking," and would enable the Princeton Holding Company to develop a 15-car parking space for its tenants.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

Recreation Group Named. The appointment of a joint citizens' committee on recreation, a successor to other similar groups, has been announced by the mayors of Princeton Borough and Township. The committee has been asked to survey Princeton's recreational needs and resources, to evaluate the adequacy of existing facilities and programs in the light of present and future needs and to report its findings to the Township Committee and the Borough Council as soon as possible. Special reference is to be made to the responsibility of private agencies and their ability to meet recreational needs and to the possible role of the governing bodies with respect to coordination and leadership.

Named by Township Mayor Charles Hurford to the joint committee: Elric C. Enderby, Province Line Road; Mrs. John V. A. Fine, 112 Rollingmead; Melvin B. Gottlieb, 83 Random Road; Donald Rugg, 92 Overbrook Drive; Mrs. Robert W. Sinkler, 307 Witherspoon Street; Gerald A. Speedy, 21 Gulick Road; and Norman C. Van Arsdale, Province Line Road. Appointed by Borough Mayor Raymond F. Main are: Lawrence Ferrara Jr., 47 Jefferson Road; Mrs. Simeon Hutter, 28 Hibdon Road; George V. Loos, 10 Dickinson Street; John S. Mack, 112 Linden Lane; Mrs. Peter McCrohan, 273 Hamilton Avenue; Thomas Moore, 19 Green Street; and Ellis Willard, 46 Murray Place.

at 8:15 to organize its work and to exchange views on questions raised by municipal officials. At an informal meeting last week, the group heard a description of their assignment from the two mayors and Township Committee-man Stanley Smyer and Borough Councilman Richard Colquhoun, recreation representatives. The committee will have the full cooperation of the municipal governments including the engineering department staffs and a number of reports previously prepared by various groups will be made available for study.

Under discussion by both mayors for several months, the proposed committee was enthusiastically received by the 28 member organizations of the Council of Community Services in a poll. Full cooperation is expected from organizations in the area, both public and private, which are concerned with recreation.

BURGHOUT ACT ACTION

Fines Total $336. Fourteen traffic and criminal violations this week brought a total of $320 in fines to area residents from Magistrate Theodore T. Tama Jr. in Borough Court. Lena Spencer, 10, E. 1, was assessed $45 after being found guilty on three counts, failure to comply with a sign, a signal violation to have a driver's license in his possession, and failure to own a driver's license.

Speeding fines of $30 and $20 were paid by Frank Guido, 38, 115 Ashmore Avenue, Trenton, and James Green, Jr., 602 Stuyvesant Avenue, Trenton, respectively. Ernest Steiger, 41, 756 Kingston Road, was charged $20 for failing to keep to the right at an intersection, and D. W. Williams, 17, 200 Sackton Street, was assessed $15 for driving through an officer's stop signal.

Douglas J. Deleco, 22, Washington Street, Rocky Hill was fined $15 for driving the wrong way on a one-way street, while Mrs. Isabelle Sayen, 187 Edgemoor Road, drew a $15 penalty for failing to pay a parking ticket and then angling to comply with a court summons.

In criminal court, Lawrence W. Formolo, 18, 2916 Brunswick Pike, Trenton, was found guilty of larceny and offensive language and fined $30. David M. Sykes, 25, of New York City, and Leslie Spruill, 26, 353 Witherspoon, were both charged with causing a disturbance while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, and with interfering with an officer in performance of his duty. Sykes was found guilty on both counts and fined $60 while Spruill paid $30 after being found guilty on the second charge only.

In Trenton, the Department of Law and Public Safety announced that it has revoked the license of James Knight, 30, 272 Witherspoon Street, for six months. Charges include failure to keep

Even if St. Swithin's traditional forty-day forecast fails to materialize, Princetonians may well feel they've had enough to float the ark already (see This Is Princeton) in less than ten days. July rainfall is well above normal.

to the right and three speeding.

SIDEWALK ACTION TABLED

Who Pays the Bill? Both Valley Road residents and members of the Township Committee agree that to build sidewalks along that busy thoroughfare is desirable. With the Valley Road School at the western end of the street and the Shopping Center at its eastern terminus, the road has in the past few years been used by growing numbers of both cars and pedestrians.

Plans for disagreement between the homeowners and the committee exists over the question of who should foot the bill. Under present New Jersey law, a municipality is not empowered to defray even part of the cost of building sidewalks. Both the State Senate and Assembly, however, have just passed a bill (A-30) that would allow town bodies to contribute up to 50 percent of the cost.

The Township Committee at its July 2 meeting again considered the sidewalk question and tabled it. The committee is keeping its eye on bill A-30 which is awaiting approval by Governor Meyner.

Cost Put at $12,900. At present, only that part of Valley Road between Witherspoon Street and Harris Road has a sidewalk. Because of the street's proximity to the school and its increased vehicular traffic, committee members have proposed that additional walks be constructed on both sides of the street between Harris Street and Jefferson Road. Between Jefferson Road and Harris Road, a single walk on the south side would be sufficient.

The cost of providing walks for the area between Harrison Street and Harris Road has been estimated at $12,900. The average cost for the homeowner of a 75 foot lot would be $228. If bill A-30 obtains the governor's approval and the township contributes 50 percent of the cost, the average Valley Road resident would be paying just over $112 for the much-needed sidewalk.

SEWER ORDINANCE PASSED

Appropriation of $19,000. Voted. At a meeting on July 2, the Township Committee approved plans for the construction of a sanitary sewer on Snowden Lane between Abernathy Drive and Overbrook Drive. The Committee agreed to the extension of the sewer by an additional 100 feet and appropriated $19,000 in funds.

The contract was awarded to Castoro and Co., of Haddonfield, which submitted the low bid of $17,897. The difference between the Castoro bid and the appropriation is a reserve in case excavation crews run into rougher terrain than expected.

TRENTON BANKS TO MERGE Princeton Men Will Be Officers. Two of Trenton's largest banks, the First-Mechanics National and the Trenton Banking Company, will soon merge their assets to form one banking institution with total assets of $170 million.

Three Princeton residents will be among the officers of the new First Trenton National Bank. Harvey C. Emery, Pretty Brook Road, will be chairman and chief executive officer. He is now president of First-Mechanics National.

Sydney C. Stevens, 5 Springdale Road, will be president of the new bank. He is now president of Trenton Banking Company. Richard G. Macgill, 131 West cott Road, will be one of two executive vice-presidents. He is currently executive vice-president of the Trenton Banking Company. The merger has been made, according to spokesmen for the banks, in order to meet the future growth needs of the Trenton area.

"The next 20 years are going to be ones of tremendous industrial expansion and population growth in Trenton, Mercer County and Central New Jersey," Mr. Emery believes. "Present plans for the Trenton area combined with the John Fitch Way Development project, planning for area development by the Greater Trenton Council of Commerce and the Delaware for increased river traffic, all mean that Trenton is about to take tremendous strides in the future."

Combined, the new bank's resources will be $170 million; loans will approximate $57 million; total stated capital funds will reach $12 million which, with reserves, will exceed $15 million and the bank will have a lending capacity of $1,000,000 to a single borrower. The new bank will have 201st in size among the nation's 14,000-deposit banks, sixth largest in New Jersey and the largest in central New Jersey.

AFS STUDENTS TO VISIT

65 Families Play Host. Two battalions of foreign teen-agers who are completing a three-week tour of the eastern United States will stop in Princeton this weekend for a three-day visit. Some 65 families will receive the students in their homes.

Travelling under the auspices of the American Field Service, the foreign students of high school age will arrive in Princeton on Saturday morning. They are on their way to Washington where they will be given a reception at the White House by President Eisenhower.

While in Princeton, they will be received at Morven by Governor and Mrs. Robert B. Meyner. Mrs. Meyner is an honorary member of the Princeton AFS committee. The committee is in charge of the three-day visit including Alfred Busselle of Lovell Lane; Mrs. John V. A. Fine of 112 Rollingmeade; and Mrs. William Lockwood of 74 Jefferson Road.

Saturday evening, the students and their hosts will attend a picnic and dance at Shipston Farm Day Camp. The facilities at the camp have again this year been made available by Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Kehoe.

Sunday afternoon, the group and their hosts will be guests at various swimming parties. On—Continued on Page 11

“LEGEND OF LOVERS” NEXT
Mario Siletti, a veteran Players director and actor, will direct a new adaptation of the play. Among the featured stars of the show will be Kathy Kelly of Trenton who last year appeared in the Players' “Skin of Our Teeth” and “Love's Labor's Lost.” “Legend of Lovers” is based on the myth of Orpheus and Eurydice. The production will be enhanced by the music of Richard Cumming who wrote the score for last season's “The Enchanted.”

Strauss Operetta Continues. Fledermaus, the ever-popular operetta by Johann Strauss, will run at St. John Terrell's tent theatre in Lambertville through Sunday night. Auntie Mame will open on Tuesday and continue for three weeks until August 3. Fledermaus, or “The Bat,” is filled with Strauss' most beloved melodies. The book is by Melihac and Halebey, who collaborated on the opera Carmen.

Lloyd T. Leech plays the leading role of Eisenstein. Mr. Leech, a tenor with the New York City Center Opera Company, has appeared in top parts in operas and operettas throughout the country. The array of roles he has sung includes Redames in “Aida,” Red Shadow in “Desert Song,” and Don Jose in “Carmen.” The role of Rosalinda is sung —Continued on Page 6

ONE SOURCE OF TROUBLE. A fundamental lack of inhibitions among a number of followers in the cast of "God's Little Acre" is just one of the short fuses leading to constant explosions in the picture. The film version of the Erskine Caldwell novel begins a week's run at the Playhouse Sunday.

by the lyric soprano, Victoria Sherry. A leading lady with such company as the St. Louis Municipal Opera, she has also made concert appearances at Carnegie Hall and the Boston Opera House.

Sybil Lamb will appear in the role of Adele. Also featured in the cast of Fledermaus will be Michael Maule and Irina Borowska as the leading dancers, Jim Oliver as Alfredo and George Lipton as Frosch. Mr. Lipton will also stage the Lambertville production.

The Music circus will present "Audie Mame" next for an extended run that will open Tuesday night. Sylvia Sidney is cast in the title role which Rosalind Russell introduced to Broadway, with Beatrice Lillie following in the hit production.

The next offering at Lambertville is a farce to the hilt, detailing one screwball adventure after another in generally hilarious fashion. Patrick Dennis is the playwright.

BUCKS PLAYHOUSE

MIDDLE OF THE NIGHT, "Season in the Sun," current attraction at the New Hope grist mill, will complete a two-week run on Saturday. It will be followed by Paddy Chayevsky's "Middle of the Night," which will mark the return of Ezra Stone ("Heary Aldrich") to the stage for the first time in eight years.

Opening next Monday, Middle of the Night will continue until July 26. The story of a romance between a man of middle years and a young girl half his age, the play will be given an all-star cast headed by George Voskovec.

A noted comedian, Voskovec was last seen at the Bucks Playhouse in "Palm Tree in a Garden." He will portray the role created on Broadway by Edward G. Robinson.

Halls Stoddard is playing the mother, Olga Bellin the girl, Margaret the widow and Sara Segar the sister. Stone, who directed Season in the Sun, will play the role of the son-in-law.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Broadway (July 10-12) is a big, big Western—big in cast names (Gregory Peck, Joan Collins), production and directorial talent, budget and scenery—and it is destined to do big, big box office. Fortunately, in addition to being big, it boasts some refreshingly different Mexican locales and a fine, sensitive performance by Peck. Other than the now physical terrain that is beautifully photographed in CinemaScope and De Luxe color, a lot of familiar ground is covered in plot and dialogue and Peck manages to pursue and kill almost as many hombres as Gary Cooper shot up single-handedly in "High Noon."

But the pace is unusually good and Western fans are bound to applaud this latest chapter from an apparently endless saga.

God's Little Acre (July 13-19) is the best-selling Erskine Caldwell book transplanted to the screen and retaining much of the novel's strong portrayal of a family gone wrong. The setting is primarily the deteriorating mansion of a Georgia family whose lives are a harsh mixture of unfulfilled dreams and the sordid reality of poverty.

A lust for gold believed to be buried nearby is the driving force behind Robert Ryan as the head of the family, while love of another man's woman and the petty hatreds caused by continuing dissatisfaction with life are other basic emotions guiding the story to its conclusion. The effect is anything but pretty, yet the atmosphere of accurate portrayal cannot be denied.

In addition to Ryan, the principals include Aldo Ray, Buddy Hackett (who provides welcome comic relief) and Tina Louise, the latter making her film debut. The Georgia mill town setting lends stark reality, and Caldwell's aura of sheer squalor has been faithfully reproduced. Hardly entertaining in the primary sense of the word, but a picture that holds the attention throughout its 110 minutes.

Black Beauty (Sat. July 19 matinee) is provided by the Playhouse as a special offering to replace one showing of "God's Little Acre." The children's classic about a beloved horse and the humans whose lives it dominated is told in picturesque color on a wide vision screen. John Crawford, Mimi Gibson, John Bryant and Diane Brewster head a good cast in a picture tailor-made for the little people.

LAWRENCE, DRIVE-IN

The Ten Commandments (now Tuesday), or the story of Moses and the deliverance of a people from the bondage of dictatorial slavery, was one of the outstanding pictures in the history of the screen when Cecil B. DeMille first produced it in the "silent" 1920's. The —Continued on Page 10

"TO GO OUT"

New Prepared Foods. Soup to Nuts, a phrase and a shop that covers everything, now covers even more. Mrs. Matilda Vassar, an expert cook, has brought her talents to the specialty food shop at 14 Spring Street and from now on you can take out some extraordinary dishes that she will have all ready for you.

Salads? Chicken, tuna, egg, macaroni, shrimp, cold slaw, potato, and probably even more. Casseroles? Hungarian goulash, chicken fricassee and many others. Specialties? Stuffed peppers, stuffed cabbage, chicken porkloft. There will be a daily menu and everything will be absolutely fresh, particularly good to know in case of salads in hot weather.

Mrs. Vassar will fix a picnic to your order (24 hours notice is helpful). Or you can stop in, right off the street, and pick up the specialty of the day for your dinner.

The shop will even be open on Sundays so that you can really have a day free of hot-toveling. Manor House ice cream sounds like a good idea for a quick hot Sunday dessert. It could be the basis of a quick hot sundae desert.

Cool and Dry. The best pair of words we know to beat the effects of a Jersey summer. Coolness comes with an air conditioner, but dryness isn't always so easy, especially if you're going away and leaving an empty house for the summer months.

Westinghouse, represented in Princeton by H. B. Wulf, has developed a dandy little de-humidifier that will remove 23 pints of water from your atmosphere in 24 hours. If you are going away, you can put it in your basement, plug it in to any standard attachment plug, run a hose from it to your drain and set its automatic control to the degree of humidity you want to maintain.

When you return, weeks later, you'll find a dry house without a single trace of mildew. A splendid accessory for people with libraries, valuable papers or just clothes that dampness might spoil.

The de-humidifier is 19 inches tall, 12 inches square, weighs 58 pounds and has a list price of $124.

A powerful air conditioner that looks as tidy as a transistor radio: that's Westinghouse's Mobilair, a one-ton, one h.p., 7,100 BTU, 7½ amp. model that can be wheeled around your house from window to window. (It's called a portable, but you'll want that little wheeled rack to help you carry it.)

With the Mobilair you get an expanding frame that fits any

"Thank You" Mats

Hostesses who have everything, (including too many guests, probably) will surely give a special welcome to the guest who brings Town Shop place-mats as a hostess gift. Who has too many place-mats, after all?

These are made for casual summer use, even though in one or two cases, they look quite sedate. They are plastic coated with non-slip foam backs. The ones by Fornasetti are perhaps the most exhilarating. One has a melon slice, a large mushroom, a curious Italian vegetable that nobody seems able to identify, and a pole of pruning shears, all displayed against a black and white background that looks like a Moorish screen.

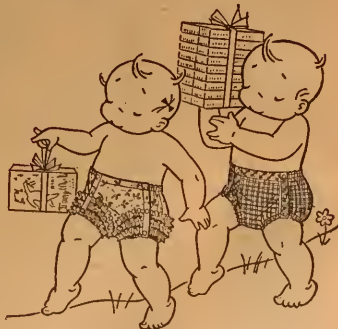

Signor Fornasetti has also taken seven elongated silver and gold fish, and packed them like anchovies into the dimensions of an oblong mat. On another mat, oysters as bright as a sea breeze make a colorful margin.

Those sedate mats we mentioned above are plastic, but more like linen than linen looks itself. One is oval with a narrow border of braid, others are oblong with a three-dimensional Greek key design at each side. These are in sage aqua, rose, beige. There is a leaf design on "lawn." Too. Prices are $1 to $2.75 each.

GOING SOUTH OF THE BORDER: Left to right, Miss Beatrice Bowen, Miss Lettice D'Andrea and Miss Marie Klein, members of the Princeton YMCA Business and Professional Girls' Club, say farewell for an international summer conference at Quauajato, Mexico, which will run from July 12-21. They left Saturday to join approximately 50 business girls who will be present.

Report from THE MAYOR

Open House. The weekly "Tell It to the Mayor" session will be held on Thursday evening from 7 to 10 at Borough Hall. No appointments are necessary.

When these informal meetings started six months ago, the Mayor thought he might have a quiet opportunity to read if people did not drop by. Thus far the reading time has not appeared.

Instead, the Mayor owes special thanks to the several hundred men, women and children who have dropped by to ask questions or to share their views on municipal problems. You have provided an effective way for us to keep in touch with town problems.

A Refreshing Thought. One of last week's visitors was Ernie D'Andrea, one of the many Princeton residents anxious to hang on to Princeton's Past as well as to meet the problems of Princeton's Future. Ernie remembers that when he was a boy, the drinking fountain on Nassau Street was a refreshing spot on the way home from a summer evening of baseball.

He still thinks the fountain can serve a useful purpose, especially for the many small children who pass by. The Borough Engineer has the problem in hand and will doubtless find a way to keep that bit of tradition alive.

A Joint Effort. The Mayors of Borough and Township have announced the appointment of a Joint Citizens' Advisory Committee on Recreation. For several months the two Mayors have been putting their heads together in discussions of this important phase of community activity.

The joint committee with seven members from each municipality, will help us to define the role of the governing bodies in the field of recreation. Based on their first informal meeting, the Joint group would seem to be a strong and interested committee that will work together effectively to study the resources, the program, and the needs of Princeton in recreation.

A New Housing Ordinance. During the discussions on Urban Renewal, it was pointed out that Princeton Borough would need a new housing code in order to comply fully with Federal standards. Our present ordinance is general in nature.

Under Section 6, for example, there are no standards set forth for the determination that a dwelling is unfit for human habitation. The courts have held that minimum standards must be spelled out.

The Borough Engineer will provide us with copies of the American Public Health Association's suggested ordinance, as well as those of other municipalities. The town of Monclair is in the process of adopting a new housing ordinance and we may be able to benefit from their experience.

Recreation. Again last week the Mayor and Borough Engineer met with Housing Authority representatives and their planners to consider next steps in the urban renewal process.

The number one priority concern for relocation of families in the project area. At an early date, the Federal Public Housing Administration will be consulted on the Borough's views favoring low-density units on available sites, rather than major multi-family "project" development.

On the 18th, The Princeton Post of the American Legion is to be congratulated again for providing Princeton with an effective celebration of the nation's 182d birthday. The annual Palmer Stadium event reminds us of Princeton's special role in the effort for independence.

appliance list: the Wash'n Dry Laundromat which you may buy for less than $400; Black-sung super agitator washing machine and Westinghouse's chest freezer, 10 cubic feet for $225.

Cool as an Arrow. The Arrow shirt company skips a dent now and then to make sure its customers are cool for summer. These skip-dent shirts look like a collection of ribs with very little holding them together and it's that very little that lets the breezes in.

Buy them from Lahey's, 150 Nassau, styled in white like a standard broadcloth shirt with long or short sleeves. The same shirt in blue, tan or grey comes in long sleeves only. Either style, $4.

Wash and wear dacron and cotton shirts, fine as a fine lawn, come in regular styles, not even button-downs, for formal summer wear. They are $6.95 at Lahey's. The same shirt in blue, tan, or grey with button-down collar has less formality.

In the sport shirt department, Lahey's has a batiste cotton in pale sage green, pale sand or blue, for $4 and a dacron and cotton in the same colors. Check-airs is Arrow's eighth-inch mesh in a soft golden yellow, tan, brown, blue or grey.

Golfers who like knit shirts can choose a whole variety of styles. Mr. Lahey. There are some in dark stripes of olive and black, open blue and black or tan and brown. A three-button knit, colored, comes in navy, tan or white with a narrow contrasting band of color around the collar's edge.

For a hot summer night, Lahey's presents an impressive batiste pajama, long-sleeved, coat front, in pastels with darker piping. Another standard pajama at $7.95 comes in dacron and cotton.

News Of The Theatres

same great producer-director has made a modern version of the same Biblical developments, adding all of the cinema advancements at his command in the 1950s and using the film perhaps as a fitting pinnacle of his significant career. In Viva Vision and Technicolor, "Commandments" represents one of the most arresting and lavish Hollywood productions of all time—trickery in the spectacular DeMille manner, but a tribute to the industry.

The Bravados (starts Wed. July 16) is a treat for all Western fans, sparing little from the talent as it spins a tale of double-dealing, gun-play and romance in frontier fashion. The action is unusually well-paced, while a good cast has a fine example set for it in the acting of Gregory Peck. Joan Collins plays opposite him in appealing fashion. Tops among the picture's characteristics is the photography of various settings in Mexico, strictly eye-filling and generally enhanced by Cinemascope and color.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

"The Matchmaker." "Life is boring," says Mrs. Dolly Levi (born Gallingher) in the beginning of Thornton Wilder's farce, and like an artist who rearranges a landscape to make it more interesting, Dolly Levi rearranges life in four successful acts. "The Matchmaker" will run through Saturday at Murray Theatre.

The Wilder play is full of people who are looking for adventure, looking for ways to rearrange their lives to make them more interesting. From the audience's point of view, perhaps the most successful are the comic clerks, Cornelius and Dornaby, who have a code word, "pudding," that lets them know when they are really having an adventure. Ralph Williams, freed from the misadventure that plagued him in "A View From the Bridge" is a splendid Barnaby, and Paul Schrim is winning as the poor clerk who wants to enjoy life before he has to return to Yonkers and be rich.

Francine Toll carries the burden of the farce as Dolly Levi. She is robust, rowdy, magnificent with a waving chicken drumstick in her hand or a milliner's craftily hidden in her bosom. Joseph Elrod plays Vandergeider, the millionaire who is no match for a matchmaker with her eye on his cash-box. If he seems to have understood W. C. Fields, no matter. The part lends itself to such an interpretation.

Lesser roles are handled with best. Flora Elkins is prim and proper as a shy but eager young milliner, Kathy Kelly is properly Victorian as Ermengarde.

For University Players' audiences, the delight and surprise of "The Matchmaker" is Miss Flora Van Huyen, played in the grand manner by Dame Melissa von Steicks. Dame Melissa does not appear until the final act but she is worth waiting for and it is quite possible that her performance is the crowning one of the evening.

Wilder has thoughtfully provided several members of the cast with witty soliloquies on life, money, love and vice. They do, however, put a ruthless spotlight on any actor and the slightest flaws in memorization, the slightest traces of woodenness in delivery or gesture come across in a cruelly magnified way.

"The Matchmaker" is an evening of good farcical comedy, played with vigor and only occasionally slowed down by the production problems that beset a summer stock company.

MUSIC NOTES

Piano Recital Planned. Miss Sarah Hart will give a piano recital Saturday, July 28, at 8:30 at the Westminster Choir College. A graduate of Miss Fine's School with the class of 1954, she received her Bachelor of Music degree in 1957 and a Master of Music last month from the Yale University School of Music. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Hart of Litch Lane.

The program will include Bach's "Toccata in F sharp minor," Mozart's "Sonata in B flat"; Faure's "Impromptu Number 3 in A flat" and Chopin's "Sonata in B flat minor"; "Opus 35 and Scherzo in B flat minor, Opus 31." The recital is open to the public.

Miss Hart was the pupil of the late Miss Lillian M. Paige and Julius Herford while attending Miss Fine's and studied with Bruce Simonds at Yale. In 1952, she was soloist with the Princeton University Orchestra under the leadership of the late Russell A. Cook. She will study in England next year.

Playgrounds Active

C. Edward Christian, supervisor of the summer recreation program, estimates the total number of children registered for Princeton's varied activities will probably reach 1,000 before the end of the summer. More than 800 signed up during the first week at community playgrounds and wading pools, with approximately 400 to 500 children using the Borough and Township facilities daily.

A supervised program is offered each day at eight locations including Harrison Park, Marquand Park, Juptown playground, Harrison Park, Valley Road School, Littlebrook School, Pine Street and Oak Street playgrounds. There are also pools at the Juptown playground on Erdman Avenue and at Harrison Park.

According to Mrs. Anne Lanahan, the staff handicraft instructor, 225 children participated in that phase of the program during the first week. Independence Day festivities on the playgrounds featured patriotic costume and vehicle decoration contests, including wagnons, toy cars, bicycles and tricycles.

CHOIR GROUPS TO MEET

Kids Confronts The Weekend. The Professional School and Vocational Camp in the Westminster Choir College will close their three-week summer sessions with concerts this weekend. The two groups have been meeting here since June 22.

The Vocal Camp, which consists of 326 young people of high school age, will present a program of sacred anthems Friday at 8 p.m. in the Westminster Choir College playhouse. The young people from 23 states will, on their return home, assist in church programs of their churches.

The professional group of 22 organists, directors and organists will present its closing concert of sacred music on Saturday at 8 p.m. Dr. John F. Williamson and Nicholas Haydn will direct the concert in the College Chapel.

"SMALL" LAKES PLANNED

For Watershed Protection. In contrast to the single dam envisaged last summer to hold back the waters of Stony Brook, the State's Wildlife Watersheds Association has announced plans for three "small" conservation dams accordingly, and will build this summer and fall in the Pennington area.

In making public news of these plans, Paul VanWegen of Pennington, president of the Watersheds Association, pointed out that a U. S. Soil Conservation Service report received three weeks ago "showed conclusively that big dams on our area would cost too much in relation to the water which could be stored." The big dam had been proposed by State conservation authorities.

What has happened, in effect, is a return to the Watersheds Association's original plans of building up to nine small dams to stock and conserve water by "small" dams. Mr. VanWegen continued, "we want to emphasize that while they are small compared to last summer's Stony Brook proposal, they actually measure up to the capability of this area's space, topography and property values."

Two of the dams will be built in the area between Elm Ridge Road and Blackwell's Road, just east of Pennington. A third lake will be created north of Pennington.

The three lakes will inundate about 20 acres and hold over a million gallons of water. This is more than all the water which is used in the Borough of Pennington for a whole year.

WHITE HOUSE AIDE DUE

Will Speak on Staff. Assistant McPhee of Princeton, Assistant Special Counsel to the President, will give an informal talk on "The White House and the President's Staff" Thursday, July 24, at 8:30 in the Colonial Lounge of the Nassau Tavern. A question-and-answer period will follow with Mr. McPhee commenting on the Sherman Adams controversy. Sponsored by the Princeton Republican Clubs, the meeting is open to all those interested.

Mr. McPhee, who lives at 20 Regatta Row, has served on the President's staff since 1961, first as assistant to Gabriel Hauge, Special Assistant to the President for Economic Affairs and now as assistant to Gerald D. Morgan, Special Counsel to the President. Before going to Washington, he was Executive Assistant to Alfred E. Driscoll, former governor of New Jersey.

DAUGHTERS OF SCOTIA

To Meet Friday. The meeting of Thistle Lodge 228, Daughters of Scotia, will be held Friday at 8 in the Odd Fellows Hall, 23 Witherspoon Street.

Miss Gladys Wheeler, Sub-Chief Daughter, will preside in the absence of Mrs. Charles Cook, Chief Daughter. Mrs. Frank O'Brien's committee is in charge of refreshments.

CLUB HEARS TALK ON BIRDS

Prof. Rogers Speaker. The Riverside Garden Club had as its speaker Wednesday Prof. Charles H. Rogers, curator of the museum of zoology at Princeton University. Included in his talk, titled "The Birds in Your Garden," were species of summer and winter birds.

The club whose president is Robert Myers has 110 members in the Riverside area of Princeton. The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockwell, 42 Dogwood Lane.

CLUB TRIP PLANNED

To Bear Mountain. The Nassau Club of Princeton will sponsor an all-day trip up the Hudson River in Bear Mountain, New York, on Saturday, July 19. Cars will leave the Van Nostrand parking lot at 7:45.

Several hours of picnicking and swimming are planned. Those interested should call Miss Mary Snyder at WA 4-7000 Ext. 520, for tickets and additional information.

POST OFFICE RECOGNIZED

Wiss Assays Award. The Princeton Post Office has been presented with the Regional Operations Director's Award for Superior Achievement in Mail Vehicle Safety in 1967. This recognition is given to those installations which were accident free and whose accident experience was equal to, or better than the regional average.

regional director, commended Princeton Postmaster Charles F. Murray and his staff for their cooperation and support of the safety program. Similar awards will be given for the year 1958 to qualifying Post Office installations.

CLAMHAKE SATURDAY

"All You Can Eat." The Montgomery Township Volunteer Fire Company has scheduled its annual clamhake for Saturday. It will be held at Johnson Moore's Grove in Skillman on Spring Hill Road, just off County Route 210. The time of the affair is billed as "continuous noon to 5 p.m." charges of $2.50 for adults and $1.75 for children under 12 will be made for "all you can eat."

FOR WIDER BENEFITS

Social Security Revision Planned. Social Security benefits have not kept up with cost of living increases of the past few years and to cope with the problems related by this discrepancy Senator Clifford P. Case (R., N.J.) has introduced a bill to amend the Social Security Act and the Internal Revenue Code. The Senator feels that a pressing need exists to aid "our older people, widows and surviving children" who are among those most severely effected by a decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar.

Since the last amendments to Social Security in 1954, Senator Case pointed out in Congress this Wednesday, there has been an eight percent increase in the cost of living as shown by the Consumer Price Index. That index has continued to rise even during the last few months of recession.

Persons living on fixed incomes have no protection against increases in the cost of living. At present, there are over a half million old-age and survivors benefits recipients receiving supplemental assistance because their insurance benefits are too low for their needs.

Three Objectives. In order to rectify what he considers a needy situation, Senator Case's proposed bill would:

(1) Increase the amount of benefits payable under the old age and survivors and disability insurance programs by 10 percent.

(2) Increase from $4,200 to $4,800 the amount of an individual's annual earnings on which social security taxes and benefits are computed.

(3) Accelerate moderately scheduled increases in social security tax rates in order to meet that part of the cost of the additional benefits which is not covered by the increase from $4,200 to $4,800.

FRESH AIR VACATIONS

At Princeton Summer Camp, youngsters chosen by the Princeton Y.M.C.A. will be among the 275 boys to spend a two-week vacation at Princeton University's Summer Camp at Blairtown, in northwest New Jersey. The camp is operated by the Student Christian Association and is staffed and largely financed by Princeton undergraduates.

Located in the foothills of the Kittatinny Mountains, the camp will be in its 45th summer of operation. Over the course of four two-week sessions, it will play host to boys from New York City, Philadelphia and Montclair as well as Princeton.

Howard W. Stepp of Pretty Brook Road, university registrar, will serve as the camp's faculty director. Boys chosen for in-the-country vacations are 12 to 15.

DISCUSSING A PRESSING PROBLEM In front of Princeton High School are Peter Epstein and Judith Davis, both seniors come September and both concerned with whether students might be forbidden to drive their cars (or the family's) to and from school and extra-curricular activities. Their answers (see below) explore some of the difficulties involved in such a regulation. Other generally negative opinions were registered by those responding to "Question of the Week." (Town Topics Photo by Hank Gachowski.)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you think the Borough Board of Education should prohibit high school students from driving to and from school and school events? (Suggested by Louis R. Goeber, Princeton Township magistrate.)

Location: At the high school and around town.

Mrs. E. Harris Harrison, 12 Edgemoor Street, mother of high school senior and member of committee to study juvenile driving problems: I don't think driving to and from school and school events has much to do with preventing accidents. In fact, this experience is good for new drivers since it is usually during daylight hours and over patrolled roads. Also, the parents know where the children are going and when they will return. More important to me would be thorough instruction by the parents in driving and in setting up driving and safety rules. In addition, the high school could put in genuine driver-education with practice on the road to replace the highly-theoretical course going now. However, some of the high school students don't think this would work. I believe the police should be very severe with violations by young drivers. It makes me shudder to hear of 30-day license suspensions with the drivers back on the road and involved in accidents within a very short period.

Susan Craig, 89 Mercer Street, high school senior with learner's permit: Students should definitely be allowed to drive but within reason. By the time you're 17 it's very embarrassing, especially for a boy, to be driven by parents to school dances. The prestige is important but young drivers should know how to handle a car with respect. Unfortunately, the show-offs who buzz around the school can't be regulated without infringing on the privileges of the others, but perhaps the school could be stricter with them.

Mrs. De Witt Smith, Drake's Corner Road, mother of a high school senior: My son Blake will not be 17 until next Thanksgiving but I look forward to his using the car whenever it is convenient, especially in the evenings. It will make him more easily mobile and thereby make it easier for his family in many ways. There are, of course, other sides to this question. Some students feel that cars are things to show off rather than simply a means of transportation. There are all types of

Rules Now in Effect

Princeton High School has had regulations governing cars driven by its students to and from school since several years. According to Principal William H. Rhodes, these have worked well in dealing with youthful high spirits as well as major law violations. The first "offense" is dealt with by the principal's office, with the second infringement referred to parents and/or police, depending on the situation—but police involvement is rare, Mr. Rhodes reports.

The regulations are: (1) "All pupils who plan to drive cars to school either occasionally or regularly must receive permission from and register their cars with the assistant principal" (the student's name, make and license number of the car and signatures of the parents and principal make up the registration form); (2) "Cars must not be parked in the circular court or its approaches in front of the building. Cars may be parked on the street."

(3) "No loitering in or around the cars during school hours." (4) "Cars may not be driven during school time without the knowledge and consent of the assistant principal or principal."

people and it is very difficult to make these overall rules.

Judith Davis, 210 Moore Street, high school senior with learner's permit: It might be a good idea to prohibit students from driving to and from school, but not such events as dances or plays. It really depends on whether the purpose of the regulation would be to keep young drivers off the roads or to improve the traffic situation around the school. If students were forbidden to drive to and from school, the bus schedule would have to be greatly improved for those who stay after school hours for extra-curricular activities. There's talk of putting in an award for the best driver next year and this might provide sufficient incentive for students to drive safely.

Nancy Dyer, 153 Jefferson Road, high school senior: I just got my driver's permit last week and expect soon to get my license. I think school authorities should let kids drive to and from

A COOL SPOT IN HOT WEATHER is Harry's Brook where modern-day Huck Finns can float on homemade rafts on their own Mississippi or where small anglers can try to catch elusive minnows. Large trees, especially weeping willows, characteristic of Princeton's waterways, abound and head-high reeds occasionally block the stream's course. As the brook ripples over rocks, the soothing sound overcomes the hum of traffic on nearby streets and creates a quiet oasis in the midst of a bustling town. (Town Topics Photo by Hank Chachowski)

WHO WAS HARRY?

Brook Does Disappearing Act. Firm in the belief that a mystery within a community should not be taken for granted merely because it has existed for a number of centuries, TOWN TOPICS this week delved into various aspects of two-mile long but generally inconspicuous stream known as Harry's Brook.

Who was Harry? If the brook goes underground now (as it has for some decades in deference to the heart of the community's business and residential section), how did its source look a century ago? And what have home-owners of year one of the space age done to take advantage of the stream's charms as it follows the same course it did when settlers first came to this area in the closing years of the 17th century?

Here are some of the answers: Harry's Brook, which might well be called "The Harry's Brook System," winds through Princeton from two main sources. The larger starts on the estate of Dr. Oswald Vahlen on Herrontown Road, a gift to Mercer County for recreational purposes, and after crossing Snowden Lane and Little Brook Road, joins the smaller tributary east of Roper Road. According to Malcolm Cullen, director of the Sleepy Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, the north-south stream has retained its natural beauty, and its charm has not been impaired by erosion and excessive building.

The smaller source suddenly comes to light at a culvert at Harrison Street North and Hamilton Avenue and winds its way eastward across Harriet Drive, Snowden Lane, Locust Lane and Roper Road. Just west of Shady Brook Lane, it bends southward before flowing into Lake Carnegie.

Atmosphere Provided. Householders whose properties are adjacent to the brook have made use of this natural resource to great advantage with "do-it-yourself" projects ranging from stone walls and bridges to outdoor barbecues and imaginative planting. The west-east stream is often a victim of "flash floods." It may rise ten inches during a heavy rain storm, since Nassau Street storm drains empty into it. The Shopping Center's well and the pump which provides water for the street and air-conditioning facilities draw from the north-south branch.

A particularly picturesque use of the brook may be seen at 41 Harriet Drive, where the owner has built a bridge-breezeway from

State Has Water Rights

The rules laid down by the State Water Policy Commission forbid any property owner on a brook to enclose or encroach upon any body of water without the commission's express approval. So if you want to divert Harry's Brook (or any other) to make your own swimming pool, you better check with Trenton first.

Again, Borough Engineer I. Russell Riker recommends not building a bridge across a brook to your neighbor without calling the commission. A wooden bidge may pass inspection—but it depends on the bridge.

The regulations apply only to brooks "on the map" and Marvin Graus at the Bureau of Geology and Topography in the State House can tell you if your brook qualifies. However, according to the first-hand experience of a TOWN TOPICS reporter who toured the course, Harry's Brook is readily fordable at all points and should not be an insuperable barrier.

house to garage crossing the brook, which has a narrow course lined with concrete at that point. It doesn't flow through the house (as Frank Lloyd Wright) but certainly takes unusual advantage of the indoors-outdoors motif so popular with modern architects.

Where Blades Once Flashed. An 1852 map of Princeton owned by Irving Mershon of the O. H. Huhlfeld Agency shows the source of Harry's Brook as a pond between Nassau Street (where Woodworth's now is) and Wiggins Street. James VanDeventer operated a nursery on this property and allowed the Princeton Skating Club to use it each winter. John F. Hageman's "History of Princeton" published in 1879 further identifies the property as a former part of the Wiggins Parsonage tract and the Dr. Elmerer section land.

Mr. VanDeventer's land included a "little ravine below the gas works on Witherspoon Street" where the pond was constructed. A spring must have provided the water for the artificial pond and this name has been passed on to Princeton posterity in Spring Street.

When Vandeventer Avenue was created, the stream was diverted into an open drain and during the 1860's the skating club rented the privilege of constructing a larger pond on the land of John Conover, a Civil War veteran and one-time mayor of Princeton.

SUMMER CHEMISTRY INSTITUTE PARTICIPANTS: Dr. Clark E. Bricker, (left) 245 Varsity Avenue, Penna Neck, associate professor of chemistry at Princeton University, and Harry W. Zail, 31 Jefferson Road, who is on the faculty of Princeton High School. During the six-week program, sponsored by the University and the New Jersey Department of Education, high school faculty members are returning to the classroom and laboratory for a strenuous round of morning lectures, afternoon laboratories and evening seminars.

Tickets were sold to pay for upkeep and, according to Hageman, "The art of skating has been brought to a high degree of success in Princeton, the young ladies as well as the young gentlemen exhibiting as much taste and skill in this fine art, as it may be designated, as the champion skaters of Central Park in New York." Apparently rivalry with the "big city" had developed even then.

This pond existed until the turn of the century when the smaller stream was again channelled into drains. During the 1890's the open drains were closed, first from Moore to Chestnut Streets, then under the present site of the Westminster Choir School and finally from there to the culvert at Harrison and Hamilton.

Who Was Harry? According to Mr. Merzhon, the brook was named for one of Princeton's first settlers in the 17th century, a Captain (or Dr.) Henry Greenland whose farm was bounded by the Millstone River on the east and the limits of the then Princeton Borough on the west. However, Hageman makes no mention of Harry's Brook which might well have been Dr. Greenland's western boundary.

There were probably other prominent "Honey" during Princeton's early days, but the source of the brook's name seems to be shadowed in the proverbial mists of history. The name of his "plantation" has survived, however, in Castle Howard, a house now owned by the Norton L. Smiths with a 573 Princeton-Kingston Road address.

More Changes Made. With the development of the Overbrook section north of Little Brook Road, Harry's Brook will have another street crossing its course before long. According to Township Engineer Calvin Schofield, Poe Road will be extended north and east this summer across the brook to join with Shady Brook Lane.

Another recent change is the creation of a "pocket" Spruce Street which has access to Nassau Street via Scott Lane. Eventually Spruce will be extended parallel to Harry's Brook to connect with Harriet and Harrison. Within the last few years, Locust Lane has been built with the advantages of a dead-end street off the Princeton Kingston-Road and Harry's Brook, which enhances this neighborhood as it does more others.

ing toward developing mature-driving attitudes.

Mrs. Wilbur M. Young, 25 Mercer Street, member of the Borough Board of Education: Every student can get to school by bus or by walking. However, the Board cannot overlook the convenience of a car for students who come from sending districts, especially those interested in athletics. A careful study should be made of the car situation and a greater effort made to show that driving a car is a serious sort of business. An education can be provided by the school to impress on new drivers the responsibilities of driving. There has recently been an improvement in the "hot rodding" situation; the police have made a real contribution here for which we are most grateful. But there must not be a repeat of what happened here three weeks ago.

Toe Downes, 55 Harrison Street, high school senior: I have been driving since last February and driving since last February and driving to school quite a bit. It is very convenient, I don't think a ficient means of transportation. Therefore, I feel that this proposal would only serve to stir up trouble for students to drive to school or school events would work. Lots of kids would drive anyway, especially those who live in the country and have to work on farms immediately after school. There is also a bunch of show-offs, but it is a minority that you could not stop from parking just a couple of blocks farther away.

Tip to the Majors

Faced with the problem of completing full seven-inning games during the brief twilight hours, the five-team Tri-County League has had little difficulty doing so this season because of accelerated procedure Commissioner B. E. Bergesen, Jr. has instituted.

Between innings, no infield practice is allowed and pitchers are limited to just three warm-up tosses. After a put-out is made, the ball is returned immediately to the pitcher, eliminating as many as half a dozen throws in which the infield normally partakes.

The result: seven innings played in well under two hours. Major league owners who find the fans bored at nine-inning games, that last two and a half hours and doubleheaders that exceed six or more might well take heed.

DOUBLEHEADER HELD

Games on Brokaw Field. The national pastime was symbolized in Princeton on July 4 by a doubleheader staged on Brokaw Field. Participants included all-star teams from the American and National Leagues, made up of YMCA Midgets, and teams selected from the top players in the Junior Baseball League.

In the opener, the American League nine trimmed the National Leaguers, 4 to 1. Jim Wheeler, Chuck Houston and Peter Johnson shared the pitching for the victors, while Gippy Ferrara, Lloyd Tucker and Gary Blaisdell pitched for the National League. Barney Holsington and Bruce Bedford, who directed the Red Sox to first place in the American League during the regular season, managed that entry. Herman Watlington and George Fier-

Football Preview Coming

The preview of Princeton's 1958 football season, an annual feature presented by Town Topics' Sports Department, will start in next week's issue.

The series of four articles will include a report on personnel losses from the team that won the 1957 Ivy championship; an estimate of the sophomores who won four and tied one; a run-down of the "pre-Blairstown" lineup; and an indication of how the Tigers should rank in relation to the other seven teams which will have their sights set on winning the league championship themselves.

re were the National League managers.

In the Junior League game, the winning team was a combine formed by players from the Nassau Oil and Matthews Construction teams. Manager Paul Cuomo used Marty McGuinn, Frank Black and Tommy Petrone on the mound.

Dick Olsen and Ed King split the pitching chores for the team composed of players from Bowers Construction and the Policemen's Benevolent Association. nines. Jack Houghton was the manager.

CRAZY-QUILT PATTERN

A's and Giants Second? It's difficult for baseball fans everywhere to realize it, but as the first half of the major league baseball season ended with the playing of the All-Star Game, the Kansas City Athletics (who finished seventh last year) and the San Francisco Giants (who wound up sixth before leaving New York) are both currently in second place. This bit of effrontery, plus the lagging pace set by such normal contenders as the Indians and White Sox in the American League and the Dodgers and Redlegs in the National, has tossed many a pre-season prediction into a cocked hat.

Solidly in that predicament are a majority of the choices advanced last April by Tom Brophy, perennial selector in these columns and generally squawky on the beam. (Last year, he foresaw the demise of the Dodgers, the rise of the Braves and capped that with a prediction of Milwaukee over the Yankees in the World Series.)

Matters are, of course, merely at the half-way point as this comparison is made. Nonetheless, only two of the four teams Tom picked as first division entries in each league are currently among the top four, and his National League pennant selection is no better than third.

Brophy looks for the Braves to lose out to the Cards, a trend the World Champions have been taking of late as they staggered through a five-game losing streak directly traceable to a skinn of 43 innings in which they scored only six runs. However, the Cards were away to a horrendous start in the first month, and then, after climbing to the first division, got themselves knocked off last weekend by the surprising Giants. A sweep of the two-game set while the Braves could do no better than split with the Pirates put San Francisco within a game

ED LASATER
Princeton Crew Captain

It's a long walk from the University campus to the Washington Road boat house—not one that a husky undergraduate with his mind set on football is likely to take out of sheer curiosity. But in the late winter of 1956, a rangy young Texan began to make the trek daily to Lake Carnegie. Today, he is Princeton's next crew captain—despite the fact that he never had rowed a stroke before entering college.

Ed Lasater won his numerals playing end under the late Matt Davidson as a freshman. At Blairstown the following September, a former Princeton star watched him with approval, commenting: "We've got enough ends this season. That Lasater is big and tough enough so they'll probably switch him to tackle."

Lasater stayed on the squad, earned a junior varsity letter as a senior-dominated team won the Ivy title, but that was his last year on the gridiron. The crew bug had bitten deep, and he devoted fulltime to the sport as a junior, clearly earning a seat in the varsity shell.

With a year of rowing still ahead of him, Lasater is rated by Coach Dutch Schuch as "one of the country's outstanding oarsmen and a tremendous competitor. He has," Schuch asserts, "mastered the science of rowing in the brief span of three years."

Lasater's "success story" is a tribute both to his own rugged determination to learn thoroughly a tough sport that was entirely new to him, and the quality of the coaching he has received while at Princeton. Off the past season, which saw the Tigers start with a victory but never win another race, there is room for an upward trend in Princeton rowing. The characteristics of physical stamina and eagerness to do well that resulted in Lasater's election as 1959 crew captain should help turn the tide.

of the lead as the teams paused for All-Star action.

The Phillies, making their annual bid to become a contender, were the other National League team that currently is well out of line with Brophy's April predictions. He had them seventh, whereas they are now fourth, half a game ahead of the Cubs—another distinct surprise.

Yankees — by a Mile. It isn't hard to be right about first place in the American League, where the Yankees have a fabulous 11-game bulge. But who figured their jayvees, the Athletics (who even took Harry Simpson back so they'd have another player with the Yankee label), for runner-up? The transplanted Philadelphians are tied for the spot with the Boston Red Sox.

In addition to the A's, Detroit's Tigers have edged their way into first division, contrary to predictions. Their presence among the top four has elbowed out the White Sox and Indians, but the A. L. chase is already as dead as last year's Christmas wreaths. The only question is what three teams will be able to land the remaining first division slots.

Cracking the Code.

To the Editor of Town Topics: We understand from friends of ours in Lawrenceville that the MO has been taking our MO calls (MO #4372) at a local NO exchange. We extend our sympathy to you. In turn, they'll extend theirs to us.

They have been annoyed, we're sorry. We've possibly lost rentals for - our Beach Haven place, which, by the way, is still empty for the first three weeks of August. Thank you for your courtesy.

(Ed. Note: MO stands for Mohawk which is a suburban Philadelphia exchange. NO refers to North, which is a Westwood, N.J. exchange. Both MO and NO are in the same slot on the dial; and that's what has caused the confusion. Any New Jersey number which is dialed from any other New Jersey number without a code number. Tip dial out of the state, and a code number is required. Any code number should, therefore, dial a code number 215 before dialing the Mohawk exchange.)

FHS vs. Indianapolis Speedway.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I ain't there something that can be done about the driving situation at the High School? In a town as lovely as Princeton, and with such an excellent school system, it seems unbelievable that such a condition exists.

The University boys seem to be doing very nicely in their automobiles, and truly it seems as if we would be doing the high school students a favor by forbidding any of them to drive to school. There is no spot in Princeton that a healthy boy or girl couldn't walk to, and benefit from the exercise.

It hasn't been too many years that all students walked to school - it was the only way of getting there - and I know of many who walk four miles a day. And recently I spoke to a former school teacher who walked three miles to school and three miles back home again each day.

Every afternoon at the close of school, the roaring of the motors, the screeching of brakes and the horn blowing begins. (I'm sure that if the parents of these children knew what was occurring, they would be only too happy to keep the car in the garage.) And during each week, it reached a tremendous climax.

I'm convinced that the Indianapolis Speedway is a place of peace and tranquility compared to the High School area each school-day afternoon at 3:15.

MRS. JON BARKER

(Editor's Note: For other opinions on this problem, see "Question of the Week," page 13.)

Bookmobile Backed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

It has been rumored that Princeton Township may, in the near future, discontinue its contributions to the Mercer County Library, sponsor of the Bookmobile, and divert these funds to support of the local library. While no one would dispute the need for an adequate local library, it seems regrettable that in order to have one, we must give up the County Bookmobile which has given useful and unique service. It is to be hoped that Princeton may find the means to afford both its own and a county library service.

The Bookmobile virtually brings a library to every doorstep and this is a rare convenience, especially appreciated by mothers and children. It has made available current books with a minimum of waiting and also has a good selection of less recent publications.

The Bookmobile has an excellent system for handling borrowers' requests for books not on its shelves, and these books are usually secured in one or two weeks' time. Because it draws upon the State's resources as well as its own it has been possible to borrow specialized and scholarly books that a local library may not be in a position to own.

While it is true that such volumes are usually housed in Princeton's Firestone Library, these books are often not available to the Princeton public, if needed by faculty or students and, if a Princeton resident does borrow them, the length of the loan is frequently very limited. The Bookmobile is able to be generous in allowing borrowers to keep books until they have finished them, thus eliminating the often harassing two-week limit.

Many Princetonians have commented upon the cordiality and helpfulness of the Bookmobile's personnel. It may be that because the staff does the necessary "desk work" in Princeton, the librarians have the time to concentrate on "readers' service" while on the Bookmobile. It would be a pity for Princeton's adults and children to lose the friendly and efficient county library the Bookmobile provides.

PAC WILL BE BUSY

Four Games in Eight Days. Much of the story of its ability to finish first this season will be unfolded in the next eight days for the Princeton Athletic Club. The ball team, led by Leonard "Beany" Kraus, Jr. manager, will face four opponents over an eight-day period starting this Friday.

Hopewell, a jump ahead of last-place Sontypine, will provide the opposition Friday at 6:15 on Brookview Field. Monday will see the league-leaders tangle with runner-up South Brunswick on the latter's diamond, while rejuvenated Sontypine (which this week won its first start in seven) will be here on Tuesday. Montgomery Township will be on Brookview Field next Friday, July 18.

In its only action this week, the PAC edged Montgomery, 2-1, behind the fourth-inning hauling of Charlie Perpetua. Tommy Petrone, youngest member of the Princeton entry, drove in both the victors' runs.

A third-inning home run to left center by the Hun School sophomore got Princeton off in front while his fourth-inning single chased Marv Trotman home with what proved to be the winning run. The losers rallied for one in the last of the seventh to avoid a shutout. In addition to Petrone, Billy Moore collected two of the five PAC hits.

MEN'S TENNIS AT CLIMAX Finals Thursday. A 7-moos. With rain again playing a part in the proceedings, the Men's Community Singles Tennis Tournament has followed a slower pace than scheduled. Barring further interruptions, the finals were set for this Thursday at 5 on the Church Courts.

In quarter-final play, defending champion Bill Bowen, top-seeded, was upset by John Chandler, 6-4, 6-2. Following him out of action was second-seeded Irwin Vas, who lost in three sets to Martin Kety, 5-7, 6-3, 7-5.

In other quarter-final rounds, Webb Harrison lost to Jim Cryan, 6-2, 8-4, while Dave Smoyer ousted Frank Chen, 6-0, 6-1. Smoyer earlier this summer won the title for boys 18 and under. Semi-final play was scheduled for Wednesday.

Women's singles will constitute the sixth tournament of the season. Entries are still being accepted at the YMCA (WA 4-3620).

LITTLE SOFTBALL

More Rain Clouds Picture. With all action suspended Tuesday of this week by heavy rain, there is little change in the Community Softball League standings. The race was tightened to some degree, however, when one of the games last Thursday saw second division TOWN TOPICS whip pace-setting Cenerinos, 8 to 1. Bill Schoeffey tossed a fine two-hitter at the league-leaders, enjoying errorless support from his mates. He missed a shutout when he yielded a run in the third, but by that time he was waging along on a 4-0 lead. Additional runs in the fourth and fifth and those the sixth were racked up as insurance.

In another game last week, Nassau Social dropped Drake's, 5-4, withstanding a run rally in the last of the seventh. The teams each made seven hits and were both credited with errorless ball, but Huck McCreedy had a slight edge over Bill Bergen on the mound.

News Of The CHURCHES

ADVENTISTS WILL MEET

To Hold Annual Conference. Delegates from 150 churches in the state will attend the annual summer conference of the New Jersey Seventh-day Adventists to be held at Camp Kingston for one week starting this Friday and continuing through the following Saturday. Camp Kingston is three miles north of Princeton on Route One. It can also be reached by way of Route 27, following signs posted north of Kingston.

For and Mrs. Leo B. Halliwell, medical missionaries of the Adventist church for the past 37 years, will describe their work among the natives of the Amazon River basin, whom they treated for a healing clinic. Most of these 2,000,000 persons had no medical care until the Halliwell's arrived in 1931.

The two missionaries treated over a quarter of a million persons during their years on the river and for their medical work they have been given the Brazilian Cross "for having saved the Brazilian government to the fact that among the Amazon's rich resources, its people are the most important."

From his medical launch the "Lucifer" ("Light-bearer") Pastor Halliwell treated smallpox, syphilis, hookworm, yaws, tropical ulcers and scores of other diseases, although he is not a graduate of a medical school. Mrs. Halliwell is a registered nurse. Now retired, the Halliwell left behind a legacy on the Amazon: 12 medical launches, 20 motor, 16 churches, 1000 patients, floating ones and a 40-bed hospital in Belem at the Amazon's mouth.

PUBLIC IS INVITED

Mutchler of the United Church of Canada on "The Varied Witness of the Church"; and the Rev. Edward S. Goldring of Princeton Seminary, "Pastoral Counseling."

At the Convocation Hour, 11:30 a.m., daily, Dr. Nels Ferre of Andover Newton Seminary, Boston, will speak on "Contemporary Theology and Beyond."

REGULAR SERVICES

Musicals for Singer

Mollie Mitnall, Gospel singer, will be honored at an Appreciation Program to be held at the First Baptist Church next Thursday at 8 p.m.

A resident of Princeton for nearly 40 years, Mrs. Mitnall, who now lives in Trenton, has been at church song-leadership career for the past nine years. She is a member of Princeton's First Baptist Church and has sung with the Gospel Chorus of that church ever since joining the congregation.

She has sung often in Princeton, in special programs and as soloist at church services. With a partner, she has performed as the Evangelical Gospel Singers in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia and New York.

ELIZABETH JAMES Says:
BUCKS COUNTY
BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY ESTATE located on hillside overlooking Delaware Valley. There are thirty completely protected acres, beautiful lawns, shrubbery and old shade. The old stone main house - which is two original houses adjoined by a wing in the center - is breathtakingly beautiful.

There is a large living room with fireplace, den, complete bath, as well as entrance hall, dining room with walk-in fireplace, lovely modern kitchen on first floor. Four bedrooms, two baths on second floor.
The old red barn - also in perfect condition - has been remodeled to include an entertainment kitchen and bar, a shower adjoining the swimming pool and a large terrace partially enclosed - facing the swimming pool and the view. If you had done the remodeling you couldn't have done better.

Excellent value for $65,000.
